

Friday, January 16, 2015,

I want:

(one sentence statements)

1. To reduce sharply the danger of large-scale nuclear war.
2. To make the president, military, Congress, arms control community and public aware that, in view of the nuclear winter phenomenon, we have maintained a Doomsday Machine for the past sixty years—as have the Russians for fifty—and to mobilize them against persisting in this (let alone, reconstructing them at the cost of a trillion dollars each).
3. To make nuclear winter impossible (first, as a result of US attack; second, of Russian attack; third, of others, together or alone.)

To these ends:

4. To have NAS or other scientific body calculate authoritatively the results of executing various large US attack options: including smoke, fire and ozone effects, effects on sunlight and famine.
5. Declare US no-first-use (NFU) policy: “deterrence of nuclear attack on US or allies” as “sole purpose” of US nuclear weapons.
6. To eliminate the US land-based missile force (as an incentive either to US or Russian “preemptive” attack on warning). (Major reduction in risk of large-scale war).
7. To reduce greatly the number of Tridents and SLBM warheads. (Eliminate pressure on Russians to launch on warning, and eliminate possibility of US-caused nuclear winter).
8. Eliminate US tactical nuclear weapons in Europe.
9. US and others to ratify the CTB.
10. Halt production of weapons-grade nuclear material (with inspection, including for the NWS).